

Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Saturday 06 Mar 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:

Fine but chilly for most. Some rain for Scotland.

This Evening and Tonight:

Many areas dry, cold and frosty with a mixture of cloud and clear spells. Thicker cloud over parts of Scotland with some rain in the north and west.

Sunday:

England and Wales dry with some sunny spells. Northern Ireland and Scotland cloudier with some rain mainly for west and north Scotland, particularly later.

Outlook for Monday to Wednesday:

Settled initially albeit often rather cloudy, with light winds and some patchy rain for some. Rather cold with pockets of overnight frost. Turning unsettled Wednesday with rain and strengthening winds.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.